

Eastbound & Down

WSTR

There she goes
She flies out to the East Coast of the States
But I'll remain here alone
Following my own ghost
Trying to live another day
I'm tired of being sick and I'm sick of being wasted
It's hard to admit that I'm hung up on the same shit
Your celebration's kind of dragging me down
Intoxication wins the race
Stops it from bumming me out

I had a little bit of money with a pocket full of hesitation
And isn't it fitting now you think you're better than that, better than that

Don't look now
It's safe to say that it's a
Long way down
And if these engines fail
I'd like a little more faith and a lot less feelings
I bailed out now I wake up screaming
Hold it off another day
You're better off without me anyway

I feel like throwing up again
Stability is not my friend
I try to tell that to this pen
You love my agony don't ya girl?
Become the source of my antagony won't ya girl?
It's funny how my fears unfurled behind a laugh
She packs her bags leaves for a different world

Don't look now
It's safe to say that it's a
Long way down
And if these engines fail
I'd like a little more faith and a lot less feelings
I bailed out now I wake up screaming
Hold it off another day
You're better off without me anyway

I had a little bit of money with a pocket full of hesitation
Now finance is low with nothing to show for it
I'm pathetic
I'm pathetic
