

Weed blasting while the rain tap dancing on my window pane
Thinking, should I live within my heart or within the brain?
Couple questions that I asked when in disarray
Heavenly Father, beg your pardon for my sinning ways
I'm trying to change, but the streets keep calling
Keep crawling into my yard at three in the morning
Keep pouring out from the heart, I beg you support it
Best to be for it than against, respect my endurance
Little Homie, in my hood when it rains, it pours
Came up in the 90s, never played indoors
Went from P1 to P2 to blades and draws
Never got the P3 because I was playing with 4's
I broke the law before I broke my V
Then Blue introduced me to that coca leaf
I could make tickets, but I couldn't roll no weed
Could have been smooth sailing, but it was the roads for me

When it rains, it rains
When it pours, it pours
I ain't doing this for nothing
Always trying to learn from something
When it rains, it rains
When it pours, it pours
Gonna find a silver lining
Everything is now aligning

It's taking every single piece of me
I'm diving to the deep now
I'll surface when I see how
Now my mind is playing tricks on me
Like water when I rain down
I'm trying to find my way back round

Gin sipping while my Jag wheels spinning on the motorway
Thinking, should I stay in my body or just float away?
Couple questions that I ask when I don't know the way
Heavenly Father, beg your pardon, can you show me ways?
Can you keep me in your light, alright? I know it's late
But it's better than never, you never know your fate
I got one eye on my phone, other eye on the road while I overtake
Lane switching, my heart racing, brain glitching
Playing victim
120 on the clock, windows whistling
He had a hammer in a sock and his face stinking
But I ain't flinching
Yin Yanging
Shit happens
The light and dark keep flip-flapping
I'm getting calls like which Cannon?
I'm cool, man, the kids jamming
God's plan, cause I'm still standing, you know

When it rains, it rains
When it pours, it pours
I ain't doing this for nothing
Always trying to learn from something
When it rains, it rains

When it pours, it pours
Gonna find a silver lining
Everything is now aligning

It's taking every single piece of me
I'm diving to the deep now
I'll surface when I see how
Now my mind is playing tricks on me
Like water when I rain down
