

Time

Wynette Tammy

Time can heal most anything at least that's what they say
And all it takes is time to make the hurtin' go away
Just give it time what a line but I know one thing for sure
Time you're really takin' yours

Remember how you used to fly when he was still with me
And now my days and nights crawl by oh so endlessly
And I'll never heal if you stand still I'll never close the door
Time you're really takin' yours

I oughta spend you downtown with some sweet someone new
Instead of stayin' here at home alone not counting you

Well you know I dread that empty bed and I guess I always will Cause I've still got his mem'ry and lots of you to kill
And I'm askin' please don't run out on me till he walks back through that door
Time you're really takin' yours
