When it's all said and done
And you're a little worse for wear
And it hurts having someone take care of you
Never let you go
Never let you go
Even when the madness has broken you apart
I used to believe
That all the absence of color
Would make a difference to my red, red heart
But my perspective has changed
Since I drove you away
But baby everybody's gotta move
Everyone's gotta move sometimes
And I won't see it
Even if I know it's there
Never let you go
Never let you go
Even when the madness has broken you apart
But I'll never let you know
I'll never, I'll never
But I'll never let you know
I'll never let you know
I used to be free
Of any fear of emotion
But these skeletons got ways of coming out
I used to believe
That someday you'd see
That baby you got devotion in every little motion

And I won't see the storm
When the rain's coming down
Never let you go
Never let you go
Even when the madness has broken you apart
Even when the madness has broken you apart

But I'll never let you know
I'll never, I'll never
But I'll never let you know
I'll never let you know [2x]

I will wait
For the day you come home
And it hurts to see you all over again
Never ever let you go
Never let you go
Even when the madness has broken you apart
