I find a place inside my sweatshirt that beats all reality
Oh and you could probably try but you would not understand me
I wake up early, wash up, call straight to my mother, yeah
'Cause she knows what I'm going through like no one other

Sometimes I close my eyes and dream you see the world like me
But then I wake up, bring myself back to reality
I've been trying, oh, to see what you see
But some things never will make sense, least not make sense to me

I find a place inside my sweatshirt that beats all reality
Oh and you could probably try but you would not understand me
I wake up early, wash up, call straight to my mother, yeah
'Cause she knows what I'm going through like no one other

Sometimes I close my eyes and dream you see the world like me
But then I wake up, bring myself back to reality
I've been trying, oh, to see what you see
But some things never will make sense, least not make sense to me

Oh, I wake up and I got these issues I don't understand
Go to my mother, she's an angel, swear she got a plan
No, oh, oh, I'm not alone
No, oh, oh, I'm not alone

I find a place inside my sweatshirt it's my favorite place to be
'Cause the world inside my head still beats all reality

Sometimes I close my eyes and dream you see the world like me
But then I wake up, bring myself back to reality
I've been trying, oh, to see what you see
But some things never will make sense, least not make sense to me
Oh, oh

Baby, it's mama
Um, it's 10: 35 on Friday
Wanted to see if um
We could try to connect this morning, I just wanna hear how you are Um, I wish we'd actually just stayed on the phone last night
'Cause I want to support you, always
Uh, give me a buzz sweetie

Bye
