New Life

x

There's a little girl dancing out on the street
You can't tell if she's hungry
Young man offers her a cigarette
All his clothes are soakin' wet
Papers blow by just like her luck
He looks so good when he dresses up
You want a new life, better than this one
It ain't so fair, just want it different
You want a new life, better than this one
It ain't so fair, you just want it different
There's a turquoise house out in the suburbs
Clothes hangin' on the line
One just like it burned down last week
Right next to mine
You want a new life, better than this one
It ain't so fair, just want it different
You want a new life, better than this one
It ain't so fair, you just want it different
New life New life
New life New life
That same little girl's dancing in her living room
Ship came in not a minute too soon
An old man thinks of her at Union and Main
Handin' out smokes in the pourin' rain
You want a new life, better than this one
It ain't so fair, just want it different
You want a new life, better than this one
It ain't so fair, you just want it different
New life New life
New life New life
