

No, I don't love her
But I think about her all the time
I sit outside and wonder
What on earth she tastes like
She's got a line up
Full of men with an appetite
I've got a hundred
Reasons why I need an alibi

I think it's funny
I can never get her all alone
Stolen glances in the corridor
It's all we know

And I haven't been this close to heaven
Since they shut me out
I still had blood on my clothes
But she washed it out
Oh, I know nothing in this world
Can save me now
No, I don't love her
She's just somehow
All I think about

And ain't it funny?
I can never get her all alone
Stolen glances in the corridor
It's all we know

In our kingdom come
Under setting sun
For you, I think I could have been someone
When it's time to leave
Hope they bury me
By the river under your wisteria tree

And I hope you know
When it's your time to go
It'd be an honour just to Offer up a hand to hold
And if I have to wait
Until our decaying state
To be that close to you
Darling, it is all I'll do

I'll be yours forever
If forever will have me
I'll be yours forever
If forever will have me
