As if the past days of reassuring myself

That it was okay are meaningless

The sunlight pouring down feels heavy

I know I can't be runnin'

I'm trapped below

Invisible wounds are increasing endlessly

And although another wound is left on top even before it heals

I don't know how to do this

But I'm praying I push through this

To the untouchable sky

At least for today

Please God, save me

The memories are killing me

Oh God, help me

My heart is getting broken

Let me find

Myself that's being erased

Please God, save me

The memories are killing me

Oh God, help me

I'm losing all my tears

So let me find

Myself that has been existing within me

Pain makes you stronger (Stronger)

It's too heavy for me

The entire body is just keep being shattered

I cannot do anything

Don't try to break me

'Cause I'm already broken

Invisible wounds are increasing endlessly

I don't know how to do this

But I'm praying I push through this

To the untouchable sky

At least for today

Please God, save me

The memories are killing me

Oh God, help me

My heart is getting broken

Let me find

Myself that's being erased

Please God, save me

The memories are killing me

Oh God, help me

I'm losing all my tears

So let me find

Myself that has been existing within me

When the ceaseless crying out

Reaches there at some point

Then, please know that

I've been hanging in here like this

So let me find my
Myself that shines quietly
So let me find my
