

Lost Dreams

XIV Dark Centuries

loneliness surrounds me and my thoughts I submit to destiny in my empty eyes my lost dreams are mirrored back my thoughts lead me on never entered paths but where do the ways end?

I just see bleak blackness but I can never turn back again my feet want me no longer to take life makes me tired I only want to sleep-finally sleep and forget my lost dreams

I dream the dream of eternity I would it with pleasure become real and I will be no longer taken in by the illusion of life life seems forgotten

the day, the night,
the senseless memories mirrors themselves back in my lost dreams a life in a world without light controlled by the bleakness of my thoughts which drives me slowly into abyss until the eternal blackness surrounds me the shackles, which chain me to life become weaker and weaker done with life, I'm ready to face the death to forget my lost dreams forever