XXXTentacion

I can't seem to find someone's shoulder Who will I rely on when it's over? Took a chance with you, it made me colder Better on my own when it's all over So when I'm weak, who do I call? My God it hurts, I can't be calm What do I do? Do I run? I'm tired of hate, I'm tired of love I've dug my nails into my arms She turned and left with all my scars What is my worth? What is my worth? Gave my love a piece of me She put my heart beneath her feet She turned and left the question, "What's my worth?" Gave my love a piece of me She put my heart beneath her feet She turned and left the question, "What's my worth?" My worth, my worth