

Half Empty

Years Since The Storm

Get up, get up!
Drowning in my darkness, I've been tried,
I've been tested, and I'm being pulled down.
Wake up, wake up !
The more I see, the more I'm sick;
and the more we seem so pathetic.
Lose hope, die slow!
Never reach towards anything just let go.
'Cause if you always try, then you'll always know,
that life will let you down; so stay cynical.
Lost in my mind with nowhere to hide.
I don't want to lose my faith in humanity,
but I can't help it I just hate what I see.
Never finding silver linings in these black clouds that hang over my head, while I'm hanging from a thread.
Give up, give up!
I'm losing all of my hope. It's getting harder to breathe.
They tell me I'm a fuck up, fuck up,
but every single one of you are just like me.
Why can't you see? Pitiful, a species so despicable.
Making life unlivable. Polluting the earth with our stupidity.
What we've become, yeah it makes me sick.
This is our reality. reality! I've been living a lie, waiting t o die.
Exile myself until I meet my demise.
Ashamed that it took this long to realize; the truth in our exi stence
has been right before my very eyes.
I'm not unconventional, nothing more than typical.
Realize I'm not shit, while you're all thinking you're formidab le.
Everyone's a hypocrite, everyone is full of shit.
Robotic and psychotic so much more than we all want to admit.
I don't want to lose my faith in humanity, but I can't help it
I just hate what I see.
Never finding silver linings in these black clouds that hang ov er my head,
while I'm hanging from a thread.
This world is dead.