

Something Real

Yellow Claw

Something bout way you move
Guess you got something to prove
You've been playing all the right games
You've been saying all the right things

You need someone on your side
Someone to confide in
Someone who can hold you through the night

You need someone on your side
Someone to confide in
Someone who can hold you through the night

Don't talk to me
Unless it's something real
Open up your eyes to see
I can give you something real

Something bout way you move
Guess you got something to prove
You've been playing all the right games
You've been saying all the right things

You need someone on your side
Someone to confide in
Someone who can hold you through the night

You need someone on your side
Someone to confide in
Someone who can hold you through the night

Don't talk to me
Unless it's something real
Open up your eyes to see
I can give you something real
