Unknown Place

Yes

Reasons to smile, after a while in our own world
Hidden from things, somewhere within no one's disturbed
Move things aside, innocent age trapped in a cage

Each step taken seems to retrace
Ancestor's footsteps to this unknown place

Bring me that sacred song in the dawn
We can belong in our own unknown world

Confined by a thought, it dims to a glow it falls well below
Needing the joy that nothingness brings needing that joy Pure light, pure self feeding your health when nothingness give s

Each step taken seems to retrace
Ancestor's footsteps to this unknown place

I live these four walls, beneath the ceiling and floor
I think the plants and the flowers through an open door
Not ever knowing what's written in stone
Take only what is really your own

Happiness tolling bells resounds
Towards a place where peace gently abounds
