

Seeds

Yoke Lore

I remember the first words that you ever said
They were soft like seeds deep in my chest
I wanna know who you are
I wanna know who you are

Hands like winter, eyes like wings
And the first kiss cut like ice in the spring
I wanna know who you are
I sleep deep in the dark

Come and take it all, leave a note for the world
I'll be back when from the sky
When the red earth cries for the girls

Stumble into love like a challenge above
But I ache with the fear that my fate is to yell and to yearn

The white roses at the front door
Our legs intertwined when it rains on the porch
I wanna know who you are
I hunt for blood like a shark

So I'm running back to the lock of your arms
Baby you know I never hit the mark
I wanna know who you are
You're the reason I've come so far

Come and take it all, leave a note for the world
I'll be back when from the sky
When the red earth cries for the girls

Stumble into love like a challenge above
But I ache with the fear that my fate is to yell and to yearn

I leave it up to all the will that lives inside me
But I'd kill to keep you here right next to me
There's something in the way I'm lifted
When I hear your name there's nothing
That can touch what you have made

Come and take it all, leave a note for the world
I'll be back when from the sky
When the red earth cries for the girls

Stumble into love like a challenge above
But I ache with the fear that my fate is to yell and to yearn