

Snowday

Yoke Lore

I was right where you found me, you were kneeling behind me, your hands in my hair
I kept waiting for too long till sleet and snow got me so drunk
, and I can't remember the first one
I dig your darkness in all my veins, I feel it right when i hold tight
My lungs clench up when you call my name, I feel it weigh like a soft pain

I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the innocence will flee my flesh

I'll be burning for you babe, morning love is the one way the lord made on Sundays
Read me all your red skin and show me who you have been, and I will love all them
I dig your darkness in all my veins, I feel it right when i hold tight
My lungs clench up when you call my name, I feel it weight like a soft pain

I'm afraid of having you, I'm afraid of needing anything
I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss

I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the ignorance that comes with bliss
I fear the innocence will flee my flesh
