

Try

YONAKA

Hey, my love. You left a bitter taste
I cried for help, and you just walked away
I can't believe that we've become estranged
My angel, my angel

And all the times
You promised things would change
They always stayed the same
Stuck on you like a stain

Try my best but it's never enough
Walk on glass rub salt in the cut
I try to put you back again
Glue's gone dry and nothing sticks
I can't look now so I reminisce
I try, I tried
What's the point in doing this again
When we both know that love's a losing game?
Don't push too hard 'cause I'm about to break
It's painful, so painful

And all the times
You promised things would change
They always stayed the same
Stuck on you like a stain

Try my best but it's never enough
Walk on glass rub salt in the cut
I try to put you back again
Glue's gone dry and nothing sticks
I can't look now so I reminisce
I try, I tried

And all the times
You promised things would change
They always stayed the same
Stuck on you like a stain

Try my best but it's never enough
Walk on glass rub salt in the cut
I try to put you back again
Glue's gone dry and nothing sticks
I can't look now so I reminisce
I try, I tried