

FOR WHICH I DANCE

Yoshi Flower

Children of the night
Pull up to the function, we ain't scared of nothing
Children of the light
Pull up to the function, we ain't scared

You can't buy your way to heaven
But you can sure as hell try
You go out drinking with the devil
But only darkness you'll find

I'm always looking for the light
Light, light, light, light, light, light
I'm always looking for the light
Light, light, light, light, mhm

We burnt out
Right before we hit the ceiling
There you left me reaching out
With one eye open, spinning round the function
We were so caustic, breathing up the Oxy
Generation RX, Xannies in the coffee
Peaking now
Mud veined, screaming out

If you hear me could you say something out loud?
And if you hear me could you say something right now?

'Cause you can't buy your way to heaven
But you can sure as hell try
You go out drinking with the devil
But only darkness you'll find

I'm always looking for the light
Light, light, light, light, light, light
I'm always looking for the light
Light, light, light, light, mhm

Told me to be patient but I don't know why I'm waiting
Is it worth it or not? Yeah
Now you got me anxious looking for illumination and a purpose
For what?

Yeah, so if you hear me could you say something out loud?
(Say something right now)
And if you hear me could you say something now?

'Cause you can't buy your way to heaven
But you can sure as hell try
(You can sure as hell try)
You go out drinking with the devil
But only darkness you'll find

I'm always looking for the light
Light, light, light, light, light, light
I'm always looking for the light
Light, light, light, light

'Cause you can't buy your way to heaven
But you can sure as hell try
Try, try