Young Rising Sons

I don't need a lot, don't need a lot but I want some more
Don't know what you got, know what you got until it's gone
I just wanna live, just wanna live, just wanna live
A little more, a little more

Tuesday I was lost and then I woke up on the floor
Not sure how I slipped into this headspace anymore
But I just wanna feel, just wanna feel, just wanna feel
A little more, a little more

I want more

I can see the road a little clearer than before
And I don't wanna fake it in the mirror anymore
I just wanna love, just wanna love, just wanna love
A little more, a little more

I hear London calling
I feel like I'm falling
A step behind (hey)
And in my reflection
I lose my perspective
And blur the lines

I want more

All this time looking for what I need
And all along it was inside of me

I want more
