

Final Say

Young Summer

This time you really closed the place down
You really outdone yourself this time around
I bet you're on the last train outta town
Lights out here keeping reminding me of a lonely sound

Should've listened but I disregarded all the signs
But you go try and love someone without getting a word in, edge wise
If only I known how this was gonna play
If you're happier this way
I'll let you have the final say

Never had the need for much breathing room
Never so aware of space 'til there's no one next to you
I could spell it out but you would still assume That someone else is out there if it wasn't me for you

Should've listened but I disregarded all the signs
You go try and love someone without getting a word in, edgewise
If only I known how this was gonna play
If you're happier this way
I'll let you have the final say

Should've listened but I disregarded all the signs
You go try and love someone without getting a word in, edgewise
If only I known how this was gonna play
If you're happier this way
Oh, If you're happier this way
I'll let you have the final say
I'll let you have the final say
