

Waves That Rolled You Under

Young Summer

It was all a thrill
I got locked in but I had to go
The balcony was closed, but our minds were open
And it was touch
Feel me breathe in
Go on and touch, don't think too deep in
Don't be so scared of the things you love

Diving into waves over deeper waters
Fools from far away close enough to fall in
Well I never could say, I never could say again
What I wanted
I never could see, I never could see the waves that rolled you under
That rolled you under

It hits me still when you're distant
Out there alone
While the world is stretched we go
But this time holding strong Without the rush you still feel me breathe in The loss is cut, don't think too deep in
Don't be so scared of the things you love

Diving into waves over deeper waters
Fools from far away close enough to fall in
Well I never could say, I never could say again
What I wanted
I never could see, I never could see the waves that rolled you
under
That rolled you under

Diving into waves over deeper waters
Fools from far away close enough to fall in
Well I never could say, I never could say again
What I wanted
I never could see, I never could see the waves that rolled you
under
That rolled you under
under
