YoungBoy Never Broke Again

Take me to a place where I can follow your sound
Take me through the maze, my world's been spinning 'round and 'round
Touching me slowly, dancing under the light
Only you know me deep down tonight
I'm letting go now, I'm letting go
Come in and lie
I'll free my soul now, I'll free my soul, soul, soul

Everyday struggle, everyday, yeah
Tryna make my hands come together, I need to be saved, saved
Take me to the altar, clean me down with water
Tryna get myself together, tell 'em don't bother
I walk in faith and make the diamonds hit harder
She want me to call when I make it in
Ever since that we been kids, we been the best of friends
Don't worry 'bout how weary can it get
You make me feel like you my first kiss

I remember as a kid I ain't have a thing, planned to be the man
Mama losin' sane, tryin' real hard and I can feel her pain
I ain't finish school, but I wanted to to make you happy for a change
I ain't wanted to, but I had to serve time for to notice certain things
What about the kids? See all these kids? They my main priority
And no time for arguments, money, you won't have to borrow it
Tell your mama I'm sorry, I shouldn't have to take things that far
I be feelin' like that you startle me
Take me to the altar, let them wash up me

Everyday struggle, everyday, yeah
Tryna make my hands come together, I need to be saved, saved
Take me to the altar, clean me down with water
Tryna get myself together, tell 'em don't bother
I walk in faith and make the diamonds hit harder
She want me to call when I make it in
Ever since that we been kids, we been the best of friends
Don't worry 'bout how weary can it get
You make me feel like you my first kiss
