

Transform

Your Memorial

Looking back on everything until this moment Stretch existence to it's limits, and you start to see that Unless you're guided by the truth and the light that sets us fr ee

You will never break away, you will never break away
From the pain abandonment brings
Now that you've been crushed pe can start rebuilding

It is finished and reality grips your heart Start to realize what this all means, now you can finally have rest

Unless you're guided by the truth and the light that sets us fr
ee

You will never break away, you will never break away
From the pain that abandonment brings
Now that you've been crushed he can start rebuilding

Reaching the end of ourselves we fall time and time again
In weakness he can transform us

Unless you're guided by the truth and the light that sets us fr
ee

You will never break away, you will never break away
From the pain that abandonment brings
You can break away, you can start rebuilding