

Sinking

Yours Truly

And I think I'm sinking
And I think I'm sinking

I can stay and fantasise
Of all the times I didn't cry
It wouldn't take me very long
If I attract what I deserve
Why does it always need to hurt?
I don't want this anymore

And if it's a game I gotta play
Then count me out, don't drag me down, oh
Still circling the drain
But I can't see through, I can't see you

And I don't know what it means when you are in my dreams
But I can't fall asleep without a nightlight
And I've tried to call defeat, but it's a sinking feeling
Oh, and I think I'm sinking

Jaded words and careless thoughts
Are what I hear alone sometimes
I watch them like a movie that never ends
I'm losing hope

Waves of grief engulfing me
The tide drags me out to sea
Without a light to guide me home
I'll sink below

And I don't know what it means when you are in my dreams
But I can't fall asleep without a nightlight
And I've tried to call defeat, but it's a sinking feeling
Oh, and I think I'm sinking

And I think I'm sinking
And I think I'm sinking
I can stay and fantasise
Of all the times I didn't cry
It wouldn't take me very long, long

And I don't know what it means when you are in my dreams
But I can't fall asleep without a nightlight
And I've tried to call defeat, but it's a sinking feeling
Oh, and I think I'm sinking

And I think I'm sinking
And I think I'm sinking
