The Night They Drove Old Dixie Down

Zac Brown Band

Virgil Caine is my name and I served on the Danville train
'til Stoneman's cavalry came and tore up the tracks again
In the winter of '65, we were hungry, just barely alive By May the tenth, Richmond had fell
It was a time I remember, oh, so well

Back with my wife in Tenesse when one day she said to me,
"Virgil, Quick! Come and see!
There goes Robert E. Lee."
Now I don't mind choppin' wood
And I don't care if the money's no good
Just take what you need and you leave the rest
They should never have taken the very best

Like my father before me, I'm a working man Like my brother before me, who took a rebel stand Oh, he was just 18, proud and brave When a yankee laid him in his grave I swear by the blood below my feet You can't raise a Caine back up when he's in defeat
