

Help One Man Today

Zager & Evans

I see the blind man with the white cane try'na cross the street today
I'll stand beside him, I will help him if he cannot find his way, hm-hmm
I take his arms, say brother let me share my eyes with you
He turns my way and nods, the light is green and I feel good
We make it to the other side, I shake his hand and smiles
God bless the man who helped me walk another darkened mile

Help one man today
Help another man tomorrow
You can do it if you try
You can make a blind man smile

Help one man today
Help another man tomorrow
With the help and grace of God
We can get this thing together

I look into a picture in a magazine, a starving child looks back at me
His tiny, crippled hands are clinging to his mama's breast in agony,
hm-hmm
The next door page held out "You can mend a helping hand"
Help us save the starving child, give us anything you can
The voice inside my mind keeps telling me if I can give
I am the sorry one, I am the one who's suffering

Help one man today
Help another man tomorrow
You can do it if you try
You can save a starving child

Help one man today
Help another man tomorrow
With the help and grace of God
We can get this thing together

People, help one man today
Help another man tomorrow
You can do it if you try
C'mon now, make a blind man smile

Help one man today
Help another man tomorrow
With the help and grace of God
We can get this thing together...
