Broken

Zak Abel

Don't wanna give you promises that I can't keep
I don't wanna waste your time
A little after midnight just before I sleep
There's nothing but you on my mind

I bet you don't know how I'm feeling
'Cause we haven't seen each other in a while

Maybe you, you are the wave I've been searching for
Take me away where I need no more
'Cause when I say goodbye I thought I was sure
Now I'm more broke than I've ever been before

A hundred conversations just to reassure me
That I've done the best I can
But I see me as a stranger in my own skin
I feel like only half a man

I bet you don't know how I'm feeling
'Cause we haven't seen each other in a while

Maybe you, you are the wave I've been searching for
Take me away where I need no more
'Cause when I say goodbye I thought I was sure
Now I'm more broke than I've ever been before

I've seen the light that maybe you're
The wave that I've been searching for
I've seen the light that maybe you're
The wave that I've been searching for
I've seen the light that maybe you're
The wave that I've been searching for
I've seen the light that maybe you're
The wave that I

Maybe you, you are the wave I've been searching for
Take me away where I need no more
'Cause when I say goodbye I thought I was sure
Now I'm more broke than I've ever been before
