

Wise Enough

Zak Abel

Now I'm walking in the sun
Yes, a new age has begun
I am living on the ground
So nothing they can do can push me down, oh

I'm wise enough to know I know nothing
I'm free enough to know it's all loving
You know it
I know it too
I've fallen but I'll hit the ground running
I'll open my arms to the world that is coming
When you feel it
I feel it too

Now I'm walking in the rain
Yes, and I can feel the weight on my shoulders
Gonna shrug it off again
Cause there's nothing they can do to push me over

I'm wise enough to know I know nothing
I'm free enough to know it's all loving
When you feel it
I feel it too
I've fallen but I'll hit the ground running
I'll open my arms to the world that is coming
When you feel it
I feel it too

Everything that was
It no longer is anymore
Everything I knew
Is long gone, oh
Everything I said
Oh, everything I did
Things will never be the same again
They're long gone, oh

I'm wise enough to know I know nothing
I'm free enough to know it's all loving
When you feel it
I feel it too
I've fallen but I'll hit the ground running
I'll open my arms to the world that is coming
When you feel it
I feel it too

I feel it too
I feel it too
I feel it
I feel it, feel it