

Tangerine Rays

Zedd

Sweet, innocent child asleep
Deep in a starless retreat
Never knew what to believe in
So every other dream
Shadows a bad memory
Shaped like a darkening breeze
Preying on angels, still breathing

Your silent touch awakes
A vision entangled in faith
The pain
Fire unraveling waves

Turn me around
Break me down
I need you to take me right back to the beginning

Sweet, innocent child at peace
Down a vermilion street
Heard a familiar greeting
So every other day
Signs of a dangerous change
All of my tangerine rays
Frozen in moments of grieving

Your silent touch awakes
A chemical cleanse in my brain
The pain
Wish it was fading away

Turn me around
Break me down
I need you to take me right back to the beginning

I miss the waves
Of tangerine rays
I need you to take me right back to the beginning