

Light

Zeds Dead

Why is it so dark?
In the beginning
It is always dark
What is that?
One grain of sand
It is all that remains
Light is the illusive mystifying form of energy (Energy, energy
, energy)
Although invisible by itself
Light reveals most of what we know about our surroundings (Surr oundings, surroundings, surroundings, surroundings, surrounding s)
How can invisible energy make things visible? (Visible)

When the sunlight shines through the blackness of space it's bl ack
But I was in the sunlight and I was able to look at this blackn ess
What are you looking at?
All of the universe but it's the infinity of space and the infi nity of time
I'm looking at something called space
That had no end
And at time that has no meaning

Open your head
Take on the mission
A laser produces a very intense beam of light
