

Break

Zero 9:36

I'm so wrapped up inside my head
One last life that I'm up against
No escaping where I've been
I wouldn't expect you to understand

My tendencies are underneath and provoked
Got they necks on the floor and I got my knees on they throat
But they don't need any smoke
I pray to God but I don't need any hope
I can't snap if y'all just leave me alone

So when I'm looking for the break
I get inside of my own brain
Something about it is unsafe
I can't breathe
Hope that someday I'll escape
Once I get out of my own way

I'm so wrapped up inside my head
One last life that I'm up against
No escaping where I've been
I wouldn't expect you to understand
To understand
I wouldn't expect you to understand
(Yeah, yeah)

I feel like a photo in a broken frame
Hope that all this broken glass will take the pain away
I get trapped inside myself, feel like a prison stay
There's another cloud again, the future looks like rain

So when I'm looking for the break
I get inside of my own brain
Something about it is unsafe
I can't breathe
Hope that someday I'll escape
Once I get out of my own way

I'm so wrapped up inside my head
One last life that I'm up against
No escaping where I've been
I wouldn't expect you to understand
Understand
I wouldn't expect you to under-

When I'm looking for the break
I get inside of my own brain
Something about it is unsafe
I can't breathe
Hope that someday I'll escape
Once I get out of my own way
I'm so wrapped up inside my head
One last life that I'm up against
No escaping where I've been

I'm so wrapped up inside my head
One last life that I'm up against

No escaping where I've been
I wouldn't expect you to understand
Understand
I wouldn't expect you to understand

I wouldn't expect you to understand
