

I Felt It All

Zero 9:36

It's hard to fall out of this place I'm in Where do I begin, anyway?
You fade away until you're let back in
You exchanged your skin, selfishly

You hold me close to tear me down
You flow through me, a disease
A starting point that never ends
You've sank your hooks in me

I felt it all
I thought it was better this way
We dissolve the love we had at the start
I felt it all
I thought we won't make the mistake
Of letting everything fall apart

I can't have my hands tied
I tried to be anywhere else but inside my thoughts
Weighing me down until I find my God
Counting the minutes just showed the time I lost
To get back and find you
Let that define who we knew we are
The pain isn't new, then it's truly scarred
An ending just assumes we'd start again

You hold me close to tear me down
You flow through me, a disease
A starting point that never ends
You've sank your hooks in me

I felt it all
I thought it was better this way
We dissolve the love we had at the start (From the start)
I felt it all
I thought we won't make the mistake
Of letting everything fall apart

I barely had a chance to catch my breath
You left too many holes inside my chest
I can't feel a thing
I can't feel a thing

I felt it all
I thought it was better this way
We dissolve the love we had at the start (From the start)
I felt it all
I thought we won't make the mistake
Of letting everything fall apart (Fall apart)