

Yesterdays

Zox

Every morning when I wake up
It hurts a little more
And the thing about this break up is
It more than shuts the door
On all this time that I've been hoping
Hoping you would get to loving me
And it hurts so much to say it
But it seems like you and I won't ever be
All these yesterdays
Are tattoos on your face
All these memories
Kinda keep me in this place

How should I feel now?
How should I feel now?
How should I feel?

Today it feels like springtime
But the morning hasn't melted in my head
And it's all that I can do right now
To keep myself from calling you again
And you sit across the table and you smile
Like nothing's really changed
But you ripped my heart to pieces
And I know my life will never be the same
All these yesterdays
Are tattoos on your face
All these memories
Kinda keep me in this place

How should I feel now?
How should I feel now?
How should I feel?

All these yesterdays
Are tattoos on your face
All these memories
Kinda keep me in this place